Teen found after 16-hour search

Madalynn Daigle got her idea from the book The Maze Runner

More than 60 police officers, firemen and volunteers searched the rugged terrain off Timberline Road for about 16 hours last Wednesday night and Thursday morning for a missing Gallatin County seventh grader. She was eventually found and returned safely to her family.

Madalynn Daigle, 13, was dropped off near her Timberline Rd. home on Wednesday afternoon, May 20, at about 4 p.m. by a school bus. She never arrived home, however, and her mother alerted authorities.

A large search team was assembled including specially trained dogs and four-wheel drive, all-terrain vehicles.

"We didn't know what had happened but were determined to find that little girl," said Sheriff Josh Neale, who helped coordinate the search effort. "We all prayed she was all right. You never know these days with the terrible stories you hear about abducted youngsters."

The search team got a break in the case the next morning when a friend of Madalynn told officers the teen had been asking her classmates to run away with her like children in a popular book called The Maze Runner.

"It's a very popular book for young teens and was released last year as a movie," said School Superintendent

Travis Huber who aided in the search. "It's similar to The Hunger Games where young teens are placed in a primitive environment and forced to survive on their own."

After the tip, Daigle's school locker was searched and pages of detailed hand-written instructions on how to survive in the wild were found.

"After looking over her papers we realized this young girl was highly intelligent and had spent many hours working on her plan," said Neale. "Her handwriting was impeccable and it was amazing to look at her intricate lists, drawings and sketches. Then, we were pretty sure she was still in the area. We were still worried about finding her safe because that area of the county is so rough and because there are animals out there like coyotes that could harm her."

About 9 a.m. Wednesday morning, constable

Jackie Caldwell and Blake Skirvin were driving up U. S. 42 on Caldwell's all-terrain vehicle when they spotted Daigle coming out of the woods less than a half mile from her home. She seemed relieved to be found and willingly went along with the men.

"We took her to the hospital to check her out because she had some cuts and scrapes but she was fine," said Neale. "Needless to say, her family was grateful to get her back. That's the end we were all hoping for."

"Maddie is your average seventh grader," said middle school assistant principal Patrick Currin. "She works hard, makes good grades and never gets into trouble. Our staff and students were relieved to hear she was safe and sound. We encourage all our students to seek safe solutions to any problems they may be experiencing at school or at home."

A team of more than 60 police officers, firemen and volunteers began a search for Madalynn Daigle last Tuesday evening. ## Bevin wins by 83 votes but Comer calls for recanvass

Gallatin County votes and votes from across the state in two of last week's primary races will be recanvassed this Thursday, May 28.

In the Republican Primary for governor, tea party candidate Matt Bevin was declared the winner over challenger James Comer but his margin of victory was only 83 votes. A total of 214,000 votes were cast in the election.

Because of the close outcome, Comer has asked for a recanvass of all counties in the Primary. In a recanvass local election boards double-check voting machine totals in each county. The recanvass in Gallatin County will begin in County Clerk Tracy Miles' office, Thursday at 9 a.m. A recanvass differs from a recount where each voting machine is opened and the votes are recounted.

Bevin beat Comer in Gallatin County 111 to 43.

If Bevin's victory is confirmed, he'll run for governor against Democrat Jack Conway in November. Conway is currently the Kentucky's

There will also be a recanvass in the race for commissioner of agriculture in the Kentucky Republican primary.

Ryan Quarles apparently won the race over Richard Heath but only by 1,400 votes. Heath has asked for a recanvass that will also be done on Thursday.

If the outcome isn't changed, Quarles will face Democrat Jean-Marie Lawson Spann in the fall. Spann had no opposition in the primary.

Driver had two head-on wrecks at the same place

Warsaw resident Todd Freyler, 45, caused a serious accident on May 14 when his car crossed the centerline on U. S. 42 near Mudlick Road and crashed into a minivan driven by Alicia Lopez, also of Warsaw.

Freyler was listed in critical condition but is expected to survive. Lopez and her passenger, Heide Guzman Lopez, 9, were seriously injured and will survive.

Boone County sheriff's spokesman Tom Scheben said Freyler had a similar accident at nearly the same place in 2012.

In that accident, he also crossed the centerline and crashed into a vehicle driver by Damon Brock. Freyler and Brock were seriously injured, as was Brock's passenger, Josh Brock.

In 2012, Freyler told police officers he took four oxycodone pills the day before the accident. He wasn't charged in either accident.

Graduation will be Sat.

Gallatin County's graduation will be this Saturday, May 30, at 2 p.m.

There are 99 members of the Class of 2015 who will receive their diplomas from School Superintendent Travis Huber.

Gallatin has talent

Some of the county's most talented musicians and singers performed in the Gallatin's Got Talent show last Friday. On stage together for the finale were (left to right): Judge/executive Ken McFarland, Clay Warnick, Jim Kinman, Tyler Mullins, Lucy Parker, Myra Nevils and Will Wallace. ## This and That

By Kelley Warnick
Editor

Last year about this time, a woman who lives on the banks of the Ohio River called to say she had been hearing the unmistakable call of a unique bird called a Loon.

I'm ashamed to say I didn't believe her. I couldn't believe a Loon was hanging around this part of the world.

I know a thing or two about Loons. They're not supposed to like our warm weather but prefer the cool waters of Canada and the Northern United States where the fishing is always good.

As it turns out, however, I don't know nearly as much about Loons as I thought I did.

Last week, while driving up U. S. 42, I came across a very happy looking Loon near Sugar Bay who apparently enjoys our climate just fine. He fluffed up his feathers as I pulled my truck over and appeared to be looking for an easy meal while relaxing on the river. Obviously, I owe the woman who called last year an apology.

It's not the first time something like that has happened to me.

A few years ago on the first of April, I got a call from a man who was parked at the Sunset Grill.

"You have to come down here and come quick," the caller said. "You're not going to believe what's sitting out here in the middle of the river. It's a Pelican. You have to get a picture of this mixed up bird."

I turned to the calendar and elected to stay at my desk rather than become the victim of an April Fool's joke.

The joke was on me, however. When I drove home that night I saw the Pelican preening its feathers on a log floating in the river. The big bird seemed like a showoff. He happily posed for pictures and looked very content with his visit to our county.

How the Loon or Pelican ended up here mystifies me but now I've learned my lesson. When it comes to animals, I realize anything is possible.

Over the weekend, I got a call from a woman who said she sees a white groundhog every morning. The next day, a man rang me up to tell me about a black raccoon that visits his back porch to nibble on food he leaves out for his cat. Before I saw the Loon, I might have thought those calls originated from over-active imaginations but no longer.

Since I began work here, I've heard reports of a black bear munching his way through a corn field near Crystal Lake, a mountain lion prowling the backyards off Ambrose Road and a secretive black panther spotted near Napoleon.

I'm now sorry to say, I dismissed most of those reports. Believe me, I won't make that mistake again.

That's why I have to get my camera and hit the road. I don't want to miss the photo of a ukulele-playing parakeet in Sanders someone just called about.

Our readers write

Parents, not government, should care for children

Editor's Note: The following refers to a new program that will provide free lunches to all public school children.

Dear Editor,

My wife and I have three children. All three started at Gallatin County, graduated from Gallatin County and two have graduated from college.

We worked full time jobs, farmed on the side, and worked extra hours to take care of our obligations.

Our children did without knickknacks, but all their needs were met. We took pride in raising our own children. We asked neither local, state nor federal officials for any assistance raising them.

We were very much aware there are no free lunches in this world. Nor did we expect them.

When someone other than yourself feeds or takes care of your children, they then have the right to tell you how to raise those children.

This sorry, perverse generation feels they have the right to have someone else feed, nurture and educate their children.

What gives anyone the right to think my local, state or federal tax dollars should be spent on feeding another man's children?

1 Timothy 5:8: "If anyone does not provide for his relatives, and especially for his immediate family, he has denied the faith and is worse than an unbeliever."

Do not pull on my heart or sympathy strings by saying, "Yes, but it's for the children."

The Bible tells me to take care of the needs of orphans and widows, not the children of bad parents. In order for them to take care of their own children, they could get that second job, so as not to be a burden to me.

I've seen first-hand where parents always seem to have enough money for pop, beer, cigarettes, tattoos, and body piercing, but not enough money to feed their children. Don't you think enough is enough?

You often hear the statement, "There's no such thing as a free lunch." And there really isn't.

But we now have a generation of young people who don't have the pride to not be a burden to anyone. They truly think everybody owes them something.

It's time to man up and take care of what's yours and stop treading on me. Stop worrying about what others should do for you, and start thinking of what you can do for others.

You may think someone owes you, but there's someone out there who's worse off. What are you doing for them?

We can thank our sorry politicians for passing such laws as the Affordable Care Act that give people an excuse to be a burden on every hard-working tax-paying person in the U.S.

Thank God for the working class people who get up every day to go to work to provide for their families so they won't be a burden on anyone.

II Thessalonians 3:13: "And as for you, brothers and sisters, never tire of doing what is good."

I hope the school board will figure a way for parents not to take a hand out to pay for their children's lunches.

High school recognized in theater world

Dear Editor,

Last week ended my theatrical career—good thing it went so well!

I was the co-host for "The Cappies" awards gala at the Aronoff Center in Cincinnati. It was an amazing event.

Thank you, Kathy Beiting, for planning it and making it the magical experience it was. Also, thank you Hira Qureshi, Hunter Thiers and Fabian Applebee for co-hosting.

It was so cool to see people from our school there, along with the cast of our play and director Keith Howard.

Thank you, Vicki Du-navent, Katie Ryan, Principal Mr. & Mrs. Jones, Superintendent Mr. Huber, Brandy Chapman and Tina Adams.

You are all so supportive of our theatre at school.

Gallatin County was up for four awards. We didn't bring home any, but awards are not the reason we performed. We love theatre and have a passion for sharing that love with an audience.

I was so happy we were all finalists because that means Gallatin County is rising through the ranks. I was blessed to participate in The Cappies and have met many people who will be friends for life.

Bevin and Conway offer different visions for state

Barring a recanvass that reverses his 83-vote victory margin, Matt Bevin will be the Republican nominee for governor.

That sentence would startle a politically aware Kentuckian who just got back from a month off the grid.

Bevin, a Tea Party favorite, was supposed to be the "show" horse in the race with Agriculture Commissioner James Comer and former Louisville councilman Hal Heiner. But when those two got into a wrangle that a Bevin ad depicted as a food fight, it gave him room to cut through the middle and hit the wire first.

Many observers, including this one, thought Bevin's voters would be harder to get to the polls and that the Louisville businessman lacked the organization to match the turnout operations of Comer and Heiner in a sparsely voted primary.

Nevertheless, Bevin was the most effective candidate on the stump and TV, and was an appealing alternative to voters turned off by a college girlfriend's abuse charges against Comer and the Heiner campaign's possible association with those charges.

And Bevin did have a turnout operation, based on the passionate following he developed from his first campaign.

A year ago, Bevin lost the U.S. Senate primary to longtime incumbent Mitch McConnell by 25 percentage points and later refused to specifically endorse the senator, the man who is most responsible for the Kentucky Republican Party's gains during the past 30 years.

Now Bevin is the party's nominee against Attorney General Jack Conway, who was virtually unopposed for the Democratic nomination. That means Bevin is about to become part of the party apparatus that McConnell controls. That will be interesting as the party tries to elect only its second governor in 11 tries.

The peacemaker is likely to be Sen. Rand Paul, a Tea Party type who beat McConnell protege Trey Grayson in the 2010 Senate primary, then used McConnell's advice to beat Conway.

Paul endorsed McConnell over Bevin last year, and didn't play a role in the latest primary, but was quick to congratulate Bevin Tuesday night—in a tweet he deleted after Comer put the race back in doubt with huge margins in his home region of Southern Kentucky.

One wonders how much of McConnell's advice Bevin will take, given McConnell's bare-knuckle tactics in their primary, which clearly irritated Bevin.

But he can use all the advice he can get from McConnell, because Democrats will try to paint Bevin as a Tea Party ideologue who would jerk the state sharply to the right.

Conway has a good record as attorney general but hasn't stirred much excitement among Democrats. He may stir interest by scaring people about Bevin, in much the same way one of his mentors, Paul Patton, successfully depicted 1995 GOP nominee Larry Forgy as an instrument of national Republicans set on rolling back New Deal programs that had helped the state.

Democrats did that with help of money outside the system of campaign spending limits and public financing, which Republicans later forced them to repeal.

We are now a long way from that system, with unlimited, anonymous contributions to supposedly independent political action committees.

Even if Bevin can't attract support from "super PACs," he probably can continue to use his own fortune. Conway also has personal wealth, but not as much as Bevin. Independent candidate Drew Curtis has some money and could make things even more interesting.

Some Democrats hoped Bevin would win the primary, thinking he would be the easiest candidate for Conway to beat. They also thought that about Rand Paul, however. This will be a fully contested race, one that could put the state on a much different course. Much is at stake.

FRC Summer Guide

- The FRC Summer Activities Guide will be available Monday, May 18, at the Family Resource Center, the Board of Education office, Gallatin County Lower Elementary and Upper Elementary Schools. The guide is full of area summer activities for families.

FRC Skool Aid

•The FRC Summer Program presented by Skool Aid includes visual art, music, song-writing, creative writing, movement and games galore. It will be held at the Concord/Napoleon Community Facility June 8-12, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Students may stay at the site to attend Vacation Bible School offered by Paint Lick, Ten Mile, and Pleasant Home Baptist Churches. For more information, contact the Family Resource Center at 859-567-4900.

Free Books

•The Dolly Parton Imagination Library Program is open to all children, ages birth through five years old. The program was established to encourage literacy in the home and recognize the importance of reading to children at an early age by providing children with a free book every month until their fifth birthday. Enrollment is required. Forms for enrollment can be obtained at the Family Resource Center, room 116, Gallatin County Upper Elementary School. Call Family Resource Center Coordinator Conte Flowers at 859-

Relatives Raising Relatives

•This program is for grandparents and other relatives who are raising grandchildren, nieces, nephews, siblings, etc. The program provides parenting techniques that help them cope with specific challenges they face raising another's children. It also offers luncheons on the second Friday of every month from 12 noon to 1 p.m. at 3099 Dixie Highway in Erlanger.

The next meeting will be held Friday, June 12, at 3099 Dixie Highway in Erlanger. Free lunch and child care are provided. Call 859-356-3155 for information.

Kroger Rewards

•Gallatin County Lower Elementary School's library can benefit from the purchases made at Kroger. If you are a Kroger shopper, go to www.krogercommunityrewards.com and scroll down to Ohio/Kentucky. Click on Create an Account and choose a participating store. Once your account is established, click on Support an Organization. The school's library number is 82977. Every time you shop, you receive rewards and help the library.

Volunteers Sought

•If you are able to donate some time, call Conte Flowers at the Family Resource Center, 859-567-4900; Beth Oldendick at the upper elementary/middle school library, 859-567-5860, extension 3155; or Katia Zuniga Family Literacy Homework Buddies, 859-760-9086. Volunteers are always needed and welcome at the schools, specifically in the Family Resource Center, the library, and with tutoring.

Support Hotline

•People who are raising a relative's children can reach out for support through Kentucky Kinship Care Support Hotline. E-mail dcbschildprotection@ky.gov. The hotline was established to assist relative caregivers in accessing services and problem solving issues and concerns.

Insurance

•Children under 18 years of age who do not have insurance may be eligible for K-CHIP. Call 1-877-KCHIP-18 or 1-877-524-4719 for an application or call the Family Resource Center, 567-4900.

Fundraiser

•Friends and family of students can now raise money for the schools through purchases they make at a variety of stores listed with SchoolStore.com. The web site is an online shopping mall with over 200 merchants including Sears, Target, Office Depot, Wal-Mart, Disney Store, and Family Book Store. The schools earn money with each purchase. To participate, enter the school's ID#341998 at SchoolStore.com. Students who e-mail invitations to join the fund-raising effort will receive prizes for sending at least three e-mail invitations. E-mail addresses will not be shared or used for any purpose other than participation in this program.

Connections

•Gallatin County Alumni can now register on the schools' web site, gallatin.kyschools.us, to stay in touch with one another, post pictures, reunion events, or plan reunions.

Donations Needed

•The Family Resource Center is in need of new or gently used gym shoes and socks. Donations may be made at Gallatin County Upper Elementary School.

Lady Cats fall to Owen in district

Dossett, Toler named all tourney

Mark Gray Sports Reporter
After a string of four straight 31st District championships, the Gallatin County Lady Softball team suffered its first district loss since 2010, last Tuesday.

Gallatin fell 3-1 to host Owen County in the semi-finals and was eliminated with a record of 6-12.

The Rebels scored three times in the third inning and that proved to be the only offense they would need.

The Lady Cats rallied with a run in the sixth inning, but that's all they could muster.

Alason Toler had two hits to lead the offense. Hannah Dossett, Madison Duryea, Gabby Hignite, and Bailey Wainscott each had a hit.

Wainscott drove in Dossett for the only Gallatin run. Abby Humphries pitched well, but suffered the loss.

Dossett and Toler were named to the 31st District All Tournament Team, ending a successful season.

Panthers stop Cats in semi-final game

Spada, Caldwell, Wilson honored

Mark Gray Sports Reporter

The Gallatin County Wildcat baseball team saw ended its season last Tuesday with a 7-1 loss to host Carroll County in the 31st District semi-finals.

The defending champions Panthers successfully defended their title the following day with a 7-2 victory over Henry County.

Gallatin trailed just 1-0 after four innings, but Carroll made its move with five runs in the fifth inning to put the game away.

In the sixth, Dominic Alexander knocked in Austin Steurer for the lone Wildcat run. Alexander and Justin Rassman each had one hit.

Losing pitcher Austin Spada gave up 4 earned runs and 6 hits over 5 innings. Chase Spahn gave up a run in the sixth inning.

The Wildcats, who finished the season with a 7-15 record, were represented on the All Tournament Team by Austin Spada and pitcher Bryson Caldwell.

Shortstop Mason Wilson was named all conference for his play the entire season.

Sports in Kentucky . . . by Bob Watkins

American Pharoah's hold on media headlines had gone on long enough.

Having put asunder Kentucky Derby and Preakness contenders and now within mile-and-a-half of being first triple crown winner since 1978 (Affirmed), Pharoah was forced out as media darling last week when University of Kentucky issued a news release.

Perfect, I thought, for a little pop quiz. Did the release say ...

A. Record number of graduates will do advanced studies at Oxford and Cambridge Universities.

B. Anonymous donor writes into his will $100 million for cancer research.

C. UK is now a Top 20 rated university.

D. University sets new record for players sent to the NBA.

E. Ball coach is secured through 2022.

If you marked anything not E, then you must write Christian Laettner a thank you note.

Pharoah be danged! Two weeks of headlines without Kentucky's coach's name was too much.

So, John Calipari made it last week. Twice.

✓ First, a flirtation with the New Orleans Pelicans, real or rumor, hastened UK to announce a new $54 million grip on its golden calf.

✓ Thus empowered and ego massaged, Calipari turned feisty.

• Dangerously, he forgot the consequences - "every time you open your mouth to talk, your mind walks out and parades up and down the words." (Mark Twain)

• He rejected also, "It is best to engage one's brain, before popping the clutch, one's mouth."

"Last year we started the season with a goal," Calipari told Jeff Eisenberg (The Dagger). "You may think it was to win a national title or win all the games, (but) it was to get eight players drafted."

"Uhh, say what?"

Big Blue Nation must have done a collective gulp. Is this the fellow who said, "At Kentucky we ARE basketball!"? ... And last spring, said he would as soon skip the SEC Tournament. "At Kentucky, we play for national championships."

Calipari new spin? "... how can you be about your team if you're worried about getting players drafted? We kind of work it the other way. What are your dreams? What are you looking for? What are you trying to get out of life? How can we help you with that?"

Awfully humanitarian, isn't it? But let's be real, the man's dream machine applies only if one is 18 years-old, 6-feet-5 or taller and can ball.

"... the mission for me," he said, "is to be a vehicle to help others reach their dreams, to be the stone that creates the ripple in their lives that goes on and on and on."

A stone ... a vehicle to the stars. Such prose when John Calipari is in character as Johnny Appleseed.

Good place to stop, right? Wrong.

"Now in our state, they want my mission to be, win national titles," he said. "(But) my mission is bigger than that."

Getting in line for a Nobel Prize? A visit from Pope Francis? Or maybe suffering a Jesus Complex.

Whatever, Calipari's latest spasm of arrogance does these things.

✓ Big Blue Nation have it on paper, NCAA titles are farther down their coach's priority list than they thought.

A ball coach in-your-face tweet: "I hate to drive you (UK) traditionalists crazy, but I'll say it again: our goal at the beginning of the season was to have eight players drafted."

✓ Brazen boasts demonstrate anew how solidly he has hijacked a college basketball program and chained it to the NBA.

✓ Finally, his rant takes attention away from elephant in the room - Kentucky's stunning loss to Wisconsin and oh-for-spring recruiting, has the heat of blame squarely on the coach and it's making him testy.

Epilogue. Gone from UK's basketball world is anything to compare to a Frank Kaminsky message to University of Wisconsin: "...thank you for having me. You have no idea how much you have changed my life. ... I was born and raised in Illinois, but I am proud to say that Wisconsin has turned me into the man I am today."

•Mary Jane and Bob Day have received some very exciting news! Last Thursday, she and Bob became great-grandparents for the third and fourth times, as their granddaughter, Tara, and her husband, Zach brought twin baby boys into the world. The young couple knew they were to have twins, but didn't know the gender until the babies were born. Truman Edward weighed in at 7 lbs. 3 ozs., and Burke Clifford weighed 6 lbs, 5 ozs. All are doing fine, and big sister, Finley, is so excited to have two little brothers that she doesn't know which one to look at first. Mary Jane and Bob haven't seen the babies yet, as they live in Nebraska, but hope to visit very soon. The Days now have two great-granddaughters and two great-grandsons, but will add to that number when their granddaughter, Ashley, and her husband, Ryan, have a baby in August. Mary Jane said it just dawned on her that her daughter will have five grandchildren, and all of a sudden she feels old!

•Friday night, Mary Jane, Barb Finrock, Marie Allison, and Diane Coleman attended the Gallatin's Got Talent program at the high school, a fundraiser for the Gallatin County Food Pantry. Mary Jane said it was absolutely one of the most entertaining two hours she has spent in a long time, and everyone who performed did a wonderful job. She didn't realize we had so much home grown talent in our county. Even our Judge/ executive plays the guitar and sings, and Clay Warnick brought the house down with his rendition of Brick House, which Mary Jane described as awesome! She said it was just so nice to see all the entertainers together for such a worthy cause, and everyone who made a donation received a free CD from Jim Kinman, with all of the songs written and performed by Jim. Definitely a win-win for all concerned!

•Jennifer and Scott Crabtree hosted a Memorial Day picnic for the entire family this year. They had lots of good food and music, played volleyball, looked at family photos, then ate yet again. Some family members attending were Betty and Boyd Lionberger, Cindy and Jack Williamson, Julie and Tim Hamilton, Kristina and Rob Turner, Brian and Tiffany West, Allen and Ashley West, Keith and Carol West, Cindy Norris, Mark and Jeannie West, April and Anthony West, Jerry Sargent, and sixteen great-grandchildren of Betty and Boyd Lionberger. Jennifer reports that everyone had a great time, and it was a wonderful day with perfect weather, much-needed family time, and memories to last a lifetime. It went so well that she and Scott are already planning the next party.

•Loretta and Dennis Dover report a busy week. They worked at the polls on Tuesday, and Loretta said it was a long day, but they enjoyed it. It was a day filled with laughter, and they liked seeing friends and neighbors they haven't seen for a while. On Friday, their daughter and son-in-law, Jerrica and Shaun, came for the weekend with little Skylar, who had her first birthday on Sunday. They had a small birthday party for Skylar, Sunday afternoon, with Shaun's parents, Danny and Pam Beach, as well as Brooke, Charlotte, and Rachel. After the party, Jerrica took Skylar into the swimming pool for the first time, and she just loved it. Charlotte and Rachel stayed in the pool until sundown. Loretta said the kids always look forward to the pool opening in the spring, and it's such a pleasure watching them enjoy what turned out to be a perfect day.

•On Friday and Saturday, Yolanda Gould served as delegate liaison, and made an appearance as Miss Plus America Elite 2014 at the 2015 Miss Kentucky/Ohio River Valley Plus America Pageant. She worked with the delegates all weekend to help them do their best and to prepare between competitions backstage. There were 11 women competing for three Kentucky titles and three Ohio titles. On Friday there was an optional competition of talent and a Men's Fashion Show. On Saturday, the women competed in interview, elegant pantwear, evening gown and on-stage questions. Yolanda enjoyed spending time with several past national queens and current ones, as well as all of the delegates. She found the women outstanding both on and off stage. The Kentucky winners were Mrs: Sarah Wise of Louisville, Ms: Rebecca Wilson of Louisville, and Miss: Trina Bonner of Louisville. Ohio winners were Mrs: Jennifer Quinn-Wilson of Maineville, Ms: Dr. Jataya Wiley of Cleveland, Miss: Zuri Johnson of Dayton. Miss Congeniality was Jennifer Quinn-Wilson, People's Choice was Rio Green of Columbus. Yolanda was honored to be named the KY/Ohio River Valley Plus America Ambassador 2015. This was for her service to the organization, and she will serve as an ambassador promoting the pageant for the next year. She said it was an amazing weekend.

•Taleigha Wood was a big three years old on May 15th, and her birthday was celebrated this past Sunday at the home of her great-aunt, Patsy Brown, and hosted by her mother, Taylor Wood. Her cake was from the Belterra bakery, and decorated with Taleigha's favorite Princess. Taleigha provided party favors for all her guests, aunts, grandmas, cousins, and friends. They enjoyed playing with water balloons and water pistols, blew bubbles, and her mother surprised her with a giant water slide, which was the hit of the day. Taleigha got loads of presents, including a new bike and a Rapunzel princess dress from Aunt Patsy.

•Katie Lowe tells me she had a really wonderful weekend! She left on Friday for Morrow, Ohio, to visit her sister and brother-in-law, Betty Sue and Willmer Satchwell. Their granddaughter, Hannah, had the lead role in Romeo and Juliet, so Katie joined them Friday evening to see the performance. Katie said it was very unusual, as Shakespeare's dialogue was used, but the setting was done in today's world. She said it was fascinating, very well done, and Hannah was a wonderful Juliet. On Saturday morning Katie, Betty Sue, and Katie's niece, Jodi, from Foster, Ky. went to the Peddler's Mall in Lebanon, Ohio. They enjoyed the shopping, then went to the Golden Lamb for lunch before checking out the antique shops and heading for home. Katie stayed another night with her sister, then drove home on Sunday. She and Hardin spent Sunday afternoon visiting cemeteries and relaxing at home.

•Diane Young has been her usual busy self. She and Ron have done some shopping for his golf trip, and stopped for pizza, just enjoying their day out together. Cousin Margie arrived on Friday to spend the weekend with Diane while Ron was gone. They did lots of shopping, played cards, and enjoyed swinging in the back yard. (See Margie on Facebook in that swing.) One day they went to Carrollton to the VF outlet, then to Butler

Lodge for a late lunch. More shopping the next day, and friend Lori Gail came to play cards with them. Sunday turned out to be a surprise for Diane when a lady knocked on her door and asked if she knew a Diane Young. It was childhood friend, Joan Noel! Diane said of course they both looked a bit different these days, but it was wonderful to see Joan and they had a great visit. Cousin Margie left on Monday for her home in Northern Kentucky, and Diane said she was missing her before she got out of sight.

•Patricia Sanders White has been recovering from an accident she suffered in January. She's feeling much better now and was happy to vote in the primary, May 19.

•Trudy Rasmussen baked and delivered a delicious chocolate cake to Bubby Hall for his 93rd birthday, last Wednesday, May 20.

*Put your sunscreen on!!

After our long and cold winter, the summer sun brings a welcomed change to most, but it holds dangers also. A SMART approach to this summer's fun in the sun is encouraged.

SLATHER on the sunscreen every day. Whether going to work or out to play, slather on the sunscreen each and every day. Dermatologists recommend sunscreen with an SPF (Sun Protection Factor) of 30 or higher, have both UVA (ultraviolet A) and UVB (ultraviolet B) protection, and is water resistant for 40 to 80 minutes.

MODEL healthy behaviors for your children. Children learn by watching, so putting sunscreen on yourself every day provides a positive role model for the children around you. Make it a part of getting ready each day and they'll carry this healthy behavior throughout life. The effects of the sun are cumulative and this healthy behavior may reduce the risk of skin cancer later in life. Increasing intermittent sun exposure in childhood and during one's lifetime is associated with an increased risk of squamous cell cancer, basal cell cancer, and melanoma.

AWARENESS of one's risk factors for skin cancer goes beyond sun exposure. People with light skin, hair color or eye color, freckles, a history of sunburn, a personal or family of skin cancer, the use of tanning beds, or certain types and a large number of moles are high risk. The major risk factor is exposure to ultraviolet light.

REAPPLY sunscreen every 30 to 60 minutes. Read the label of the brand of sunscreen you are using. It should have a water resistant rating. Reapply sunscreen just before the time limit expires and during water play or heavy sweating.

Tools for sun safety includes sunglasses, wide brim hats, using shade and limiting the time in the sun. Sunglasses with UV protection are important for all ages. Studies have shown one cause of cataracts is prolonged exposure to sunlight. Look for sunglasses that block close to 100% UVA and UVB rays. A hat with a four-inch brim provides protection to the face, ears, scalp and neck from the sun's UV rays. If a baseball cap is worn, sunscreen should be applied to the ears and neck.

Cover up with a shirt, beach cover-up, or pants. A typical shirt has a SPF rating lower than the recommended SPF, so it is wise to double up on protection by using sunscreen as well.

The sun's UV rays are strongest and do the most damage during midday so outdoor activities should be avoided at this time.

If this is not possible, then finding the shade of a tree, beach umbrella, or tent is a practical way to protect the skin.

Don't forget to drink plenty of water to stay hydrated.

The most important thing to remember this summer is to be SMART, be safe, keep calm and have fun! For more information on preventing skin cancer go to www.cdc.gov/chooseyourcover

Arbor Day Foundation's book helps identify trees in Kentucky

The Arbor Day Foundation has a book that helps people identify trees in a simple, step-by-step process. The book, What Tree Is That?, is available for a $5 donation to the nonprofit tree-planting organization.

What Tree Is That? is a fun, easy-to-use tree identification guide that features hand-drawn botanical illustrations highlighting the distinctive characteristics of many tree species.

Nature lovers and professional arborists alike have called this pocket field guide a must-have, user-friendly resource. Its beautiful, full-color illustrations are in precise detail and depict natural colors, shapes, and textures so users can make a positive species identification in just a few easy steps.

The Arbor Day Foundation offers this book to help people identify trees in Kentucky and throughout the Eastern and Central regions of the United States. What Tree Is That? uses a unique step-by-step approach for identifying the species of each tree, explaining what to look for in the shape of the leaves, differences in the leaf stems and twig structures, and specific characteristics of fruits, flowers, buds, and bark.

"Our What Tree Is That? Pocket guide is an ideal resource for developing a greater appreciation for trees," said Matt Harris, chief executive of the Arbor Day Foundation. "The Arbor Day Foundation strives to help people enjoy and appreciate trees, and we feel our pocket field guide will do just that."

What Tree Is That? is also available as an online interactive version at arborday.org.

To obtain a tree identification guide in full color, send your name, address, and $5 for each guide to What Tree Is That?, Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, NE 68410. You can also order the book online at arborday.org.

Kentucky Speedway owner inducted into 2016 NASCAR Hall of Fame

The following is a statement from Speedway Motorsports, Inc. Executive Chairman O. Bruton Smith regarding Wednesday's announcement that he will be inducted into the NASCAR Hall of Fame Class of 2016:

"When I found out that I was nominated, I realized how much this meant to my family and the 15,000 employees that work for my companies. Now I realize how much it means to me. It will truly be an honor to be remembered at the Hall of Fame along with people like Dale Earnhardt, Richard Petty, Glen Wood, Junior Johnson, Darrell Waltrip and so many others who helped build this sport. That's what I've tried to do my entire life. I'm a frustrated builder who had a knack for promoting races, and it's been fun to always try to push the sport to greater heights for the fans. From the first World 600, I've always wanted the fans to leave with something spectacular to remember about their experience. Even if they don't remember who won the race, I want them to remember the pre-race show and having the time of their lives. I want fans to know we're always working to build the best facilities for them and that's who I really owe this recognition to. The millions of fans who've attended our race tracks all of these years are the ones who really deserve to be in the Hall of Fame. They've built the sport right along with us, and I want to sincerely say thank you to them and the voting committee."

Smith is considered the preeminent speedway promoter and entrepreneur who revolutionized motorsports entertainment over the course of seven decades. His first major speedway endeavor began when he partnered with Curtis Turner to open Charlotte Motor Speedway in Concord, N.C., in 1960 and held the first World 600 that year.

His racing empire of motorsports facilities has grown immensely under Speedway Motorsports, Inc. (SMI), which currently owns and operates Atlanta Motor Speedway, Bristol Motor Speedway, Charlotte Motor Speedway, Kentucky Speedway, Las Vegas Motor Speedway, New Hampshire Motor Speedway, Sonoma Raceway and Texas Motor Speedway.

The speedway group plays host to 13 NASCAR Sprint Cup Series events, the NASCAR Sprint All-Star Race, 11 NASCAR XFINITY and eight Camping World Truck races and other high-profile events.

Free smoke alarms given to 64 residents

On Saturday, May 23 over 21 volunteers from American Red Cross, Gallatin County Fire Department, Glencoe Fire Department, Gallatin County Emergency Management, and FEMACorps canvassed areas of Gallatin County providing information on Home Fire Safety and checking for working smoke alarms and batteries.

Other events supporters included Family Dollar Stores and KY Farm Bureau. Of the 120 homes visited, 64 new smoke alarms and 10 new batteries were installed free of charge. Volunteers helped 37 households make fire escape and tornado safety plans. A total of 91 people were served with lifesaving information and equipment.

Seven times a day someone in this country dies in a fire. The Red Cross campaign focuses on joining fire departments and community groups nationwide to install smoke alarms in communities with high numbers of fires and encouraging everyone to practice their fire escape plans.

"Installing smoke alarms cuts the risk of someone dying from a home fire in half, so we're joining with community groups to install smoke alarms and teach people how to be safe from home fire," said Scott Tibbetts, Disaster Program Manager with the American Red Cross.

The Red Cross also is asking every household in America to take the two simple steps that can save lives: checking their existing smoke alarms and practicing fire drills at home.

The Red Cross responds to nearly 70,000 disasters each year in the United States and the vast majority of those are home fires.

You can help people affected by disasters like home fires and countless other crises by making a donation to support American Red Cross Disaster Relief.

Your gift enables the Red Cross to prepare for, respond to and help people recover from disasters big and small.

Visit redcross.org, call 1-800-RED CROSS or text the REDCROSS to 90999 to make a $10 donation.

Keep safety in mind this boating season

Memorial Day weekend serves as the unofficial start to summer and draws boaters to Kentucky's lakes and rivers in droves.

"There's nothing better than a weekend or a day on the water," said Zac Campbell, boating education coordinator for the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. "Kentucky offers so many incredible lakes and rivers that boaters can enjoy. It's a great way to spend quality time with family and friends."

There were more than 170,000 motorized boats registered last year in Kentucky. A safe experience on the water should be a top priority because the boating season means more boat traffic and less room for error.

U.S. Coast Guard statistics from 2014 show May as the second deadliest month behind July for boating-related deaths in the United States.

Operator inattention, improper lookout, operator inexperience, excessive speed and alcohol use were the top contributing factors among the 4,064 accidents that involved 610 deaths in the U.S. as counted by the Coast Guard last year.

An overwhelming percentage of the people who were involved in boating accidents and drowned last year were not wearing a life jacket at the time, according to Coast Guard data. Federal and state law requires a Type I-III personal flotation device for each person onboard a vessel. Children under the age of 12 must wear a life jacket while in the open part of a boat that is underway.

"Be an alert operator and aware of your surroundings," Campbell said. "You're responsible for the vessel and everybody on it. Make sure everyone is following the rules and the laws of the water. It's also your job to make sure you have all the necessary safety equipment and see to it that it's being used by the people on your boat."

"All of these things will help ensure that you have an enjoyable and safe trip on the water."

There were nine boating-related deaths on Kentucky waters all of last year, up from five in 2013, according to Coast Guard data. Four people have already lost their lives in boating-related accidents on Kentucky waters this year.

"That's high considering the boating season has not even begun yet," said Maj. Shane Carrier, boating law administrator with Kentucky Fish and Wildlife.

Department conservation officers will be out on the water all summer to help ensure everyone's safety.

Cryptogram

A cryptogram is a puzzle where a sentence is encoded by substituting the actual letters of the sentence with different letters. The challenge of the puzzle is to 'decode' the sentence to reveal the original English sentence. We have provided a few of the decoded letters to help get you started.
